

Experience the NASFAA (r)evolution

Financial Aid Professionals turn to NASFAA for training, advocacy, resources, and the opportunity to exchange ideas and best practices.

For almost 50 years, NASFAA has advocated on behalf of the financial aid community and the students and institutions we serve. As part of the NASFAA (r)evolution, we have expanded our advocacy and research efforts, including more research studies, and more contact with congressional staffers, Education Department officials, and education policy leaders.

Since its inception, NASFAA has brought the higher education community together to discuss students' financial aid needs and federal student aid programs and policies. As part of the NASFAA (r)evolution, we have invested in new networking and communications outlets to help members connect with their peers and exchange ideas.

- The NASFAA National Conference
- The NASFAA Forum
- Article Commenting in Today's News
- Student Aid Perspectives in Today's News
- Connect with us on Facebook, LinkedIn, Twitter and YouTube to join the conversation!

From in-person training and conferences to online courses and webinars, we've never stopped offering high-quality, timely, and accurate financial aid training. As part of the NASFAA (r)evolution, we have expanded how we deliver training to you through the creation of NASFAA University, a financial aid credential program.

- NASFAA University Credential Testing Center
- NASFAA University Self-Study Guides
- NASFAA University Instructor-led Online Courses
- NASFAA Webinars
- Training Tracks at state and regional meetings
- Monograph: Developing the Cost of Attendance
- Monograph: Satisfactory Academic Progress

For nearly five decades, NASFAA has provided tools and resources to the financial aid community to effectively implement the student aid programs. As part of the NASFAA (r)evolution, we have improved and expanded the vast array of resources available to NASFAA members.
