

February 2020

Dear Institutional President,

According to the General Provision regulations found in 34 CFR 668.16, schools are required by law to demonstrate that they are capable of administering the Federal Student Aid programs by providing the financial aid office with sufficient staffing, training, and other resources.

The National Association of Student Financial Aid Administrators (NASFAA) is the only national association founded by financial aid professionals that collaborates with the U.S. Department of Education and other relevant federal agencies to provide institutions with:

- Training via webinars, articles, self-study guides, self-evaluation guides, and online courses.
- Unlimited subscriptions to our daily newsletter with updates from the Department of Education, Congress, and in-depth predictive analysis on future legislative and regulatory actions.
- Access to NASFAA's AskRegs Knowledgebase, a reliable help desk-type resource for busy financial aid professionals who need answers to specific compliance or regulatory questions.
- Access to NASFAA's Student Aid Index, a central hub of important financial aid regulations, legislation, and other key resources— all in one convenient, mobile-friendly tool so your staff has the information they need to do their jobs efficiently and effectively.
- An interactive tool for creating your federally required internal Policies & Procedures Manual.
- Research reports, including benchmarking surveys and tools to help determine what's happening in the field and among your peers, as reported by our members.

NASFAA membership provides your entire financial aid office with what they need to remain in compliance. Because the NASFAA Board of Directors consists of practicing financial aid directors, our mission remains focused squarely on helping NASFAA schools stay up-to-date, while also advocating for changes that benefit institutions, and ultimately students.

I would encourage you to go to www.nasfaa.org/video to learn more about the benefits of a NASFAA membership and to reach out to our Membership Services department at membership@nasfaa.org or 202.785.0453 ext. 1 with any questions. I hope that NASFAA membership is an easy investment decision for your institution.

Sincerely,

Justin Draeger
President
